

Jill Estorino
President
Disneyland Resort

Jill Estorino is the President of Disneyland Resort in California, where she leads 36,000 cast members and all facets of the iconic destination, including two theme parks, three resort hotels and the Downtown Disney District. She guides the resort during an exciting time of growth with several expansion projects underway.

Most recently, Estorino served as President and Managing Director of Disney Parks International, where she worked closely with key business, government and industry leaders, influenced strategic investment decisions, and oversaw expansion at all destinations across Europe and Asia, including Disneyland Paris, Hong Kong Disneyland, Shanghai Disney Resort and Tokyo Disney Resort. Under her leadership, Disney Parks International delivered strong performance while advancing an ambitious slate of transformative projects that expand Disney's global footprint and deepen emotional connection with guests.

Previously, Estorino served as Executive Vice President of Global Marketing and Sales for Disney Parks, Experiences and Products, where she led global teams responsible for driving visitation, strengthening brand affinity and evolving how Disney connects with consumers worldwide. Her career with The Walt Disney Company spans a range of senior site-based and global leadership roles, including Senior Vice President of Marketing and Sales for Asia Pacific, Senior Vice President of Marketing Strategy, and senior marketing leadership positions at both Hong Kong Disneyland and the Disneyland Resort.

Estorino leads with a deep belief that every decision – strategic, creative or operational – is ultimately experienced through the lens of the guest and delivered through the passion of our cast members. She is known for holding exceptionally high standards for how Disney is represented in the world, ensuring that innovation, storytelling and service excellence are consistently brought to life across cultures, markets and millions of daily guest interactions.

Estorino is also a passionate advocate for inclusion and leadership development, serving as an executive champion for initiatives that strengthen Disney's connection with new audiences.
