ATTRACTION SPOTLIGHT

Celebrate Zoogether Day with Judy Hopps and Nick Wilde during this brand-new 4D show in the Tree of Life Theater.

Join a roarin' watch party to see all the celebrations taking place across the diverse biomes of Zootopia. Hosted by Heidi Howler, you'll join Zoogether Day fans, like Benjamin Clawhauser, to watch performances (in CarrotVision, of course) in neighborhoods like Tundratown, Marsh Market, and Little Rodentia. The holiday celebrates the unity of the residents of the city, and this is sure to be a party like none other.

Opening November 7th, 2025 at Disney's Animal Kingdom Theme Park

DID YOU KNOW?

- Disney films always begin with research! For Zootopia, the directors spent 18 months studying animals.
- One of their first stops was to our own Disney's Animal Kingdom Theme Park at Walt Disney World Resort, home to a huge array of animals and some of the best animal experts in the world.
- While visiting the park, they were able to observe the animals' behavior up close.
- "Zootopia: Better Zoogether!" was a collaboration between Walt Disney Imagineering and Walt Disney Animation Studios! Byron Howard, director of Zootopia 2, directed the animation, and Jared Bush, co-writer and co-director of Zootopia and writer/director of Zootopia 2, co-wrote the script with Walt Disney Imagineering.
- Michael and Mick Giacchino composed the score, and Elyssa Samsel, Kate Anderson, and Michael Giacchino wrote the new, original song featured in the show, 'We Are Zoonited.'
- The Tree of Life Theater's stage manager, Sam, first appeared in Zootopia+. She is voiced by Charlotte Nicdao.
- There is an homage to Imagineer Joe Rohde in the exterior queue graphics. He appears as "Joe Rohdent," a construction worker mouse building the Tree of Life Theater in Zootopia.
- The community board in the lobby is chock-full of Zootopia and Disney easter eggs!

OTTERS ASIAN SMALL-CLAWED OTTERS

Zootopia Character Emmitt Otterton

FUN FACTS:

- Otters have two layers of fur to help keep them warm and dry.
- Otters belong to the same family as ferrets, weasels and badgers.
- Otters range in size from the Asian small-clawed otter at around 2-3 feet up to the giant river otter, which can be 6 feet long!

DISCOVERY ISLAND:

TREE OF LIFE

WALRUS

Residents of Marsh Market in Zootopia 2

FUN FACTS:

- Walruses use their long tusks like ice picks or ski poles, to help them grip ice and pull themselves out of the water. They can also use their tusks to protect and defend themselves.
- Walruses' stiff, sensitive whiskers help them to sense their surroundings and feel for food on the ocean floor.
- Sea ice is important for walruses. They use ice floes as resting spots and diving platforms when searching for food.

POLAR BEAR

Residents of Tundratown in Zootopia: Better Zoogether!

FUN FACTS:

- Polar bears have thick layers of fur and fat to help stay warm in the Arctic, even while swimming!
- Polar bears' huge, webbed paws help them walk safely on snow and ice and are good paddles for swimming!
- The scientific name for polar bear, Ursus maritimus, means "sea bear," perfect for these great swimmers who are at home on the sea ice.

TIGER

Tigers are Gazelle's backup dancers in Zootopia: Better Zoogether!

FUN FACTS:

- Unlike most cats, tigers are good swimmers and will often go into water.
- Tigers don't just roar, they can make other sounds, including a quiet "chuff" sound used as a greeting.
- Here at Disney's Animal Kingdom, you can see Bakso, a one-year-old Sumatran tiger born and raised here at the park!

SPRINGBOKS

A type of antelope and close relative to Gazelle in Zootopia

FUN FACTS:

- With their graceful legs and slender bodies, you can tell springboks are close relatives of gazelles!
- Both male and female antelopes, which includes gazelles and springboks, have horns.

CHEETAHS

Zootopia Character Benjamin Clawhauser

FUN FACTS:

- Cheetahs are the fastest land mammals and can sprint up to 60 miles per hour.
- Cheetahs' claws never fully retract; they are like cleats gripping the ground as they run.
- You can tell a cheetah by its spots: they are solid, while leopard and jaguar spots are rosettes.

AFRICAN ELEPHANTS

See elephants among the denizens of Zootopia

FUN FACTS:

- Elephants use many different sounds to talk to each other, including some that are too low for humans to hear!
- One elephant can eat hundreds of pounds of food and drink up to 50 gallons of water each day.
- Elephants are intelligent and have a strong memory, which helps them keep track of the best places to find food and water.

GIRAFFES

See giraffes among the denizens of Zootopia

FUN FACTS:

- Giraffes have seven neck bones, just like people, but their necks can be over 6 feet long!
- Each giraffe has its own unique coat pattern just like human fingerprints.

GOATS

See goats among the denizens of Zootopia

FUN FACTS:

- Goats are very social animals, preferring to live in groups.
- Goats will sometimes butt heads – literally – to settle disputes, but sometimes just to play!

PIGS

See pigs among the denizens of Zootopia

FUN FACTS:

- Pigs use their sensitive snouts to find food, like roots and tubers, underground.
- Pigs can be found on every continent except Antarctica.

CONSERVATION STATION

SNAKES

PUERTO RICAN BOA, DESERT ROSY BOA AND GREEN TREE PYTHON

Zootopia 2 Character Gary De'Snake

FUN FACTS:

- Snakes can be found in all kinds of places, from the dry, sandy desert to lush rainforests.
- A snake's forked tongue collects particles from the air, which helps the snake learn more about its surroundings.
